

HUMAN RIGHTS IN IRAN FREE THE BAHÁ'ÍS

A Forum in Evanston

Since March and May of 2008, the Seven leaders of Iran's Baha'i community have been in prison. Though they have done nothing more than peacefully practice their religion, they were charged with offenses that could carry the death penalty. After a closed trial, they have each been sentenced to ten years imprisonment.

They are in jail only because of their religious beliefs.

Come to a forum demanding their release.

Honoring UN Human Rights Day

Thursday, December 9, 2010 - 7:00 PM
Alice Millar Chapel, Evanston

Chicago Ave. and Sheridan Road (Northwestern University) Free parking available nearby NU lots.

Invited speakers, Omid Memarian and Frank Lewis, will discuss the general context of human rights in Iran; specifically the imprisonment of the seven leaders of the Baha'i community in Iran and the international protests against their imprisonment.

Sponsored by: Amnesty International Group 50 (Evanston), Local Spiritual Assemblies of the Baha'is of Chicago, Wilmette and Evanston.
